FROM THE GENERAL MANAGER'S DESK
July, 2009

We are almost into monsoon season, and as we all know we either suffocate from dust and debris, hide from lightening or escape from intermittent torrential downpours, that is if you were lucky enough to get through allergy season. Please do not ignore the fact that some of these monsoon events can be very dangerous, and in some cases even life threatening.

Most of my articles applaud the efforts and dedication of the RCI Staff. I do believe, however that there are others, whose efforts should be addressed and greatly appreciated. I am referring to the members and officers of the RCI and Regime Boards, together with building administrators. You have no idea how much work and effort and sacrifice of personal time our Board Members spend on Regime and other issues. They are volunteers, and for their efforts are frequently subject to abuse, harassment. Rarely are they complimented for their efforts, rather always criticized for things that either fall through the cracks or are not their responsibility. As volunteers they agree to serve when others would not consider doing so and while they cannot satisfy the needs of everyone they all do their best to help in making this the community in which we all choose to call our home. They deserve our thanks.

It is IMPORTANT to once again point out that any owner who does not carry homeowner's insurance, or tenant who does not maintain a tenant's policy is taking on unnecessary and unanticipated risk. For a small annual fee you are protected against your own acts and those of others.

Another issue, related to insurance is the risk you assume when you have unlicensed, un-bonded, uninsured contractors working in your Unit. Should they cause damage to property (Regime, yours or others), or personal injury, you could be liable or co-labile for same. The Arizona Registrar of Contractors and the Arizona Revised Statutes set forth, in detail, the difference between handyman services and those who perform services who are supposed to register with the Registrar of Contractors.

Our tennis courts have been re-surfaced and are open once again for play.

FINALLY

REMINDER
RE-SURFACING OF ROADWAY
&
ALL OUTDOOR PARKING AREAS

TUESDAY	JULY 14TH
THURSDAY	JULY 16TH
TUESDAY	JULY 21ST

The re-surfacing will be accomplished on the above 3 days. Signs will be posted as we approach the deadlines as to what areas will be closed and inaccessible and for how long (probably for not more than 24 hours). THERE CAN BE NO MOVE-IN'S OR OUT'S OR DELIVERIES ON ANY OF THESE DAYS.

We are sorry for the inconvenience this may cause, however this work must be done to preserve the roadway and parking areas from deterioration.

Sincerely,
Roger M. Friedman/GM

Movies of the Month

Friday at 1PM

July 10 Flash of Genius running time 120 minutes PG-13 Starring: Greg

Kinnear, & Lauren Graham. A man-against-the-system docudrama, inventor Robert Kearns, the visionary who developed the modern intermittent windshield wiper. Kearns submitted the invention to each of the big three auto companies, each of which promptly rejected it; the companies then turned around and put the device to use. The enraged inventor spent several decades attempting to collect on his patent, and mounting lawsuits that traveled all the way to the Supreme Court; he eventually collected over 30 million dollars for his obsession.

July 17 Grey Gardens Starring: Drew Barrymore, & Jessica Lange.

A fact-based drama centered on the two eccentric relatives of Jackie Kennedy-Onassis who served as the subject of David and Albert Maysles' similarly-titled 1975 documentary. Grey Gardens tells the story of Big Edie (Lange) and Little Edie (Barrymore), the aunt and cousin of Kennedy-Onassis respectively. The reclusive socialites made headlines across the country when the health department threatened to raid their sprawling, flea-and-raccoon-infested twenty-eight room East Hampton, NY mansion in the early-1970s, prompting Kennedy-Onassis herself to intervene in an attempt to save the family name.

July 24 Confessions of a Shopaholic running time 105 minutes PG

Starring: Isla Fisher, Hugh Dancy. A Manhattan shopaholic whose buying sprees have buried her in immense debt lands a columnist gig dishing out financial advice in this Touchstone comedy based on Sophie Kinsella's series of books. Rebecca Bloomwood (Fisher) can't seem to break her habit for making impulsive purchases, and while she's always decked out in the latest styles, her credit card bills are as thick as a telephone book. If Rebecca could somehow manage to land her dream job at a high-profile fashion magazine, perhaps she could transform what is now a simple addiction into something that could really benefit her professionally. When Rebecca becomes an advice columnist at a financial magazine published by the same company as her favorite fashion magazine, her fresh approach strikes a chord with readers and she quickly becomes the toast of the town. Meanwhile, her bank account is still bone dry, wreaking havoc on her love life and placing her career in jeopardy. As Rebecca teeters on the brink of bankruptcy, she gradually begins to reassess her priorities in life.

Knit Wits

Oh, my goodness! It's that time again! The Scottsdale Shadows Knit-Wits (and Happy Hookers, too) have begun their summer hiatus. No more Thursday morning meetings but they will continue to knit and/or crochet at home to create their wonderful, colorful and practical blankets for the young cancer patients. The women are scheduling a delivery of more than thirty blankets very soon and another around Labor Day. Look for the date of the resumption of our Thursday meetings in the Fall. Please plan on joining us to learn or renew knitting and/or crocheting skills. We'd love to meet you and get to know you. Also, if you have any yarn to donate, please leave it with Ramiro in the Activities Office. Thanks to Betty Moston, Helen Rothstein and Holly for their recent contributions of yarn. Our blankets are more colorful and warm because of these ladies.

We wish you a happy and safe summer.
